

M. Muthuraja

01.5.2024

Melaisivapuri

Manoj Kumar and Santhosh, Students from the Kudumiyanmalai Agricultural College visited my farm. During their visit, they learned about the teak, mango, coconut, and other crops present on my farm.

Afterward, they provided a practical demonstration on how to eradicate pests found on the crops, such as whiteflies and black bugs.

They also demonstrated pest control using a sprayer with the appropriate medicines. Because of this, the pest infestation has reduced.

Furthermore, they have visited the farm multiple times and provided various explanations. This has been very useful to me.

Signature
M. Muthuraja

S. Thangarasu

Vaarpattu

Kudumiyanmalai Agricultural College Students:

- Santhosh
- Manoj

During our chilly (chilli) cultivation field visit, they gave us agricultural advice regarding farming.

They gathered details and information from us regarding groundnut cultivation.

They inspected the chilli plants and provided information on pest control/spraying medicines.

They inspected the coconut trees and set up a pheromone trap to control rhinoceros beetle attacks.

They meet and discuss with us frequently, both in person and over the phone.

Yours faithfully,

S. Thangarasu

05.05.2024

V. Chinnaiah

Vaarpattu

Students from Kudumiyanmalai Agricultural College, Santhosh and Manoj, came to visit us in person.

They thoroughly observed and learned about the farming methods we practice.

Furthermore, they inspected the diseases and pest infestations present in our agriculture and shared the appropriate solutions with us.

In addition, they gave a practical demonstration on how to use neem oil solution (Neem Azadirachtin solution) and yellow sticky traps.

They also continue to stay in touch with us both in person and over the phone.

Yours faithfully,

V. Chinnaiah,

Vaarpattu

M. Paramasivam

Vaarpattu

Students named Santhosh and Manoj, studying at Kudumiyanmalai Agricultural College, frequently came to visit and interact with us.

They inquired and learned about agriculture from us.

They also provided advice regarding pest attacks and disease infestations.

They participated in the farmers' meeting held in our village and shared information regarding organic farming.

Along with this, they encouraged us to practice organic farming.

Furthermore, they conducted an organic farmers' meeting in our village;

I participated in it and learned a lot of information.

Yours faithfully,

M. Paramasivam,

Vaarpattu

A. Palanisamy
Pitchangalanpatti

Students from Kudumiyanmalai Agricultural College, Santhosh and Manoj, frequently came to visit us and learned about the farming methods we practice.

They explained the management practices for beehives kept in bee boxes.

Afterward, they gave a practical demonstration on making vermicompost (earthworm fertilizer).

They cleared a suitable spot and set up the vermicompost bag that I had. They filled it with the cow dung and waste available with us and explained the process of preparing vermicompost.

Furthermore, I participated in the organic farming awareness meeting conducted by them and felt highly motivated about organic farming.

They frequently meet me in person, understand the issues in my agricultural fields, and provide solutions.

Yours faithfully,

A.Palanisamy

B. Selvarani

Melaisivapuri

Students Santhosh and Manoj from Kudumiyanmalai Agricultural College frequently met me in person to learn about the farming activities I do in my garden/farm.

They also taught me methods to repel pests present in the garden.

Furthermore, to repel mealybugs and whiteflies present in my garden, they explained the practical preparation of Agni Astra (a traditional organic pesticide) and yellow sticky traps, and set them up for me.

In addition, I visited the agricultural exhibition conducted by them and benefited by learning about farming equipment, organic fertilizer preparation, paddy varieties, beehive boxes, vermicomposting, and natural pest repellents.

Moreover, these students contact me both in person and over the phone to keep track of the happenings in the garden. These students provided practical demonstrations in a very excellent manner and highly motivated me.

Yours faithfully,

B. Selvarani,
Melaisivapuri,

05.05.2024